Strategies by Derek Richman, Pastor

On Sunday, February 12, 2017 at the end of the message I shared the story of Amplify Church in Pittsburgh. I thought I would share their story again and go into a little more detail.

Amplify Church was founded in the late 1970's by Pastor Lee Kricher and a few others in the eastern suburbs of Pittsburgh. It was a nondenominational church. The church experienced growth from its founding and by the early eighties the church worshipped over 1,000 people on Sunday. But then Pastor Kricher stepped away from ministry in order to spend more time with his family and to save his marriage.

By 2003, Amplify Church was in a prolonged season of decline and its attendance had gone below 200 people on Sunday and they could not afford their monthly mortgage. The church building had also been neglected for many years. The board of the church contacted Mr. Kricher and asked him to consider becoming the pastor of the church again. (Mr. Kricher had not been in ministry since he had left Amplify Church) Mr. Kricher said no to the request. The chairman of the board called back again and asked him to pray about the possibility. Mr. Kricher reluctantly agreed to pray about coming back and he felt that God was calling him to pastor Amplify Church once again.

Today, Amplify Church worships over 1,600 people on a weekend, at three different locations around the eastern suburbs of Pittsburgh; so what happened?

Pastor Kricher does not say that there is some magic plan that every church can put into place to grow; but he does lay out five different general strategies that churches should examine if the church has declined or plateaued. The first strategy is to examine and possibly adopt a new mindset. He said the mindset at Amplify Church was, "if it is good enough for us then it is good enough for our children." He said this mindset did not serve Amplify Church as they entered the 21st Century. So the question we should ask is, "What is the prevailing mindset at West Hills and does it need to change?"

The second strategy is to identify the essentials. This means clarifying a vision or a mission statement so that everyone in the church knows it. In addition, this also means prioritizing certain areas of the church. Thus, we have to ask ourselves; what are we prioritizing?

The third strategy was to reduce the distractions. This means that once an organization/church has ordered their priorities then whatever distracts from those priorities must be reduced. While we may agree with this in theory; in practicality such decisions can be painful. This also meant removing any barriers or distractions from what the church should be about. Unfortunately, this can mean eliminating programs which, at one time, were important but may not serve the same purpose anymore. This may also mean examining our physical plant and updating the physical plant so that we might create a more welcoming environment for a person who has little familiarity with a church.

The fourth strategy used by Amplify Church was to elevate the standards. In trying to apply this strategy Amplify did not mean that everyone and everything had to be perfect. However, it was a call to take all aspects of the church to another level. I believe this strategy should always be before us and apply to all areas of the church. How can I elevate my preaching? How can Children’s ministry elevate what they are doing on Sunday mornings? How can we elevate or improve what we are doing in youth ministry? Elevating our standards means that we need to be constantly asking ourselves how we can improve in all areas of the church.

The final strategy was to build a mentoring culture. This idea was centered on always identifying people to raise up into leadership through a mentoring role. The focus of this should be on the younger or the next generation.

All of these strategies are worthy questions to ask at West Hills and in our own life. We have already asked some of these questions and answered them and have begun to move forward. But it is also encouraging to be able to hear from and gain experience from a church that has gone before us.

If you would like to hear Pastor Kricher be interviewed about his church please e-mail me and I will send you a link to a podcast.

I read bits and pieces of a book called “Expect Great Things” as part of a days reading from God Calling, by Two Listeners. What kinds of great things do you expect? A job you like? An ‘A’ in Math from your children? A really nice dinner with friends? What will become a glorious gift from Jesus has started out to be just another mission trip in some people’s hearts. But we can all expect great things wrapped up in various parcels under Jesus’ Name. So, are you expecting something glorious from Jesus? I’m pretty sure Jesus can, and definitely will give, glorious opportunities for us all. Chances to help others in Christian ways. We just have to be ready to volunteer to go where Jesus is calling us: across the ocean, across state lines, across the street, or maybe even across the room. Wherever Jesus calls you, He needs you!

NIV, Ma 5:46-47 - “If you love those who love you, what reward will you get? Are not even the tax collectors doing that? And if you greet only your own people, what are you doing more than others? Do not even pagans do that?”

Heather Hipp is the Administrative Assistant to Pastor Derek Richman, Mike Alfieri, (Director of Support Ministries) and Jackie O’Dell, (Director of Spiritual Formation.) Heather started her job in January 2016, and has been dividing her time and duties between the three staff members and other various activities. Heather stated she really enjoys the diversity of her job, reporting that “no week is ever the same!” Heather came to this position with many transferable skills. Previous to her job at West Hills she was employed for three years with TransCanada, a job her brother-in-law had told her about since he also works for this company. Her position was Associate, and although it did not have the variety of duties that the West Hills job offers, she enjoyed working for the company due to the extensive benefits. However, when her position was eliminated due to company cutbacks in November of 2015, she wasn’t terribly upset and stepped into the West Hills job two months later. She thoroughly enjoys the challenging duties of her job. Heather was born in Idaho, but her parents, brother and two older sisters moved to Canada where she lived for 18 years. When her brother decided to start his own business in Las Vegas, Heather agreed to help him. Sadly the business did not survive, so Heather accepted a very active position as a Sales Coordinator for a company who assisted businesses in planning their events for their employees while visiting Las Vegas. Heather found herself very busy, sometimes Monday through Sunday, working out schedules, shows, hotels, buses, entertainment, etc. After almost four years she found the Las Vegas environment “very draining,” even though she had joined “a wonderful supportive church.” One of her sisters had moved to Omaha, so she moved here in 2009, and found a job as a Human Resource Assistant at UNMC Physicians. After three years she applied and accepted the position at TransCanada.

Heather currently lives with her sister and brother-in-law and one of her nieces. She also lives with a very beautiful dog named Izzy.

Izzy is a long haired and very fluffy Chihuahua whom Heather rescued several years ago. Heather has been a member of West Hills Church for the past six years, and has continued to trust God for “whatever plans He has for my life.” Her favorite Bible verse is Proverbs 3:5

“Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; In all your ways acknowledge Him, and he will make your paths straight.” Heather’s warm smile and friendly, caring ways has made her a valuable member of the West Hills staff.

Cameroon micro-credit provides a hand-up, not a hand-out by Caitlin O'Hare, Mission Ministry Director

Aid International: Christian Women of Vision (ChrisWOV) is a West Hills mission partner located in Bamenda, Cameroon. The vision of ChrisWOV is to have a world in which the less privileged ones can have happy and fulfilling lives and look up to God in thanksgiving. Their mission is to provide sustainable aid to the disadvantaged persons (Christians and non-Christians in the rural and urban areas) for the alleviation of poverty.

One of the ways they achieve their mission is through the Widow(er) Support Program. They are committed to training widows and widowers in income-generating/sustainable activities such as small-scale businesses, agricultural intensification, local manufacturing (such as producing laundry detergent for sale), construction, wood works, etc. Upon completion of training, the widows and widowers are provided micro-finances to help them establish themselves in small-scale activities that constitute their main source of livelihood.

Here is the story from one such recipient.

Angella Tanwani is one of the targeted widows in our micro credit program. She became a widow in 2008. When her husband died she was molested by her brother-in-law who would come to her room and say, according to culture, he was to be her next husband. She rejected his demands, but close family members who knew about the behavior did nothing. A few months later he started seizing her landed property (family land own by her husband) and openly told her to leave the family. She eventually left her matrimonial home and rented a room in Bamenda with no means of livelihood. She also had no money to take any legal action against her in-laws. Worst still, she had no means to even educate her children. She was finally brought to the ChrisWOV office for intervention.

Our agents visited her brother-in-law and counseled him to stop harassing her. We also had support from the Catholic and Presbyterian spiritual leaders in her area since Angella is a Presbyterian and the in-law is a Catholic. Angella was finally restored to her home. ChrisWOV supported her to start selling puff-puff with a micro credit of 30,000 FRS CFA. ChrisWOV also identified one of her three children for sponsorship. She had stopped schooling for lack of means. We are very proud of her hard work. We provided Angella's daughter with basic school needs and school fee. She is presently a teacher and is also assisting the mother. She has continued to fry puff-puff and has received more micro credit, up to 50,000 F (approximately $50). Sometimes she also sells ground nuts.

ChrisWOV would have liked to have done more, by following up with prosecuting the brother in-law so others will learn, but unfortunately we do not have a legal aid fund for the advocacy of Women's human rights. The State does not bear such legal cost for poor women who are abused. These are some of the weaknesses of the law.

"... and lo, the heavens were opened unto him, and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove."

--Matthew 3:16

THE WEST HILLS STAINED GLASS WINDOW

In December 1987, Kristi and Mark Lambrecht of Lambrecht Glass Works of Omaha were commissioned to create the stained glass window in our sanctuary. After ten months of prayer, study and viewing design presentations from local and national artists, a committee of eight people knew they had found the design that fit our unique congregation.

In addressing the importance of the window and its design, Committee Member Diane Hansen said, "symbols have always been important to people. In medieval times when our greatest cathedrals were built, it was of utmost importance that the story of the gospel be told through the paintings and stained glass placed within. These were usually narrative pieces as there was almost no other 'book' for people to 'read'. Now, in the 20th Century, we are still a people who need and appreciate symbols in our life. There are those who desire a recognizable symbol, and others who are satisfied with a symbol, shape or color much more abstract, which becomes the springboard for meditation, inspiration and thought."

In a sense, the design submitted by Mark and Kristi Lambrecht combines both features. The Lambrechts, themselves Presbyterians, said they reached their choice of design "through the study of God's word and much prayer." They describe the meaning of the design as follows.

The contour line of a descending dove, the Holy Spirit, is the focal area representing the passage from Matthew 3:16: "... and lo, the heavens were opened unto him, and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove."

Progressing down and outward are rays or beacons of light relating to--
"Come ye and let us walk in the light of the Lord." --Isaiah 2:5
"The Lord is my light and my salvation." --Psalm 27:1

These rays are light in color standing for cleansing power and purity of our Saviour. The rays reach out to the viewer, drawing the eyes (and the heart) up to focus on the dove. The lower portion of the design has a line element that works to fulfill several functions. The development of a diamond pattern (or quarry design) which represents our movement within our Christian lives in our search to get closer to our Lord and His Word.

"Follow me and I will make you fishers of men." --Matthew 4:19

The quarry becomes a representation of a fisherman's net, which gathers the souls into the body of Christ, and before the viewer's eyes, the beacons of light penetrate to the foreground, breaking through the pattern (the old), giving birth and dawning as when Jesus declared:

"I tell you the truth, unless a man is born again, he cannot see the Kingdom of God." --John 3:3

The overall appearance with the cross suspended in front of the window reinforces that Divine declaration, that Jesus is the Light of the world. This is the prayer for this body of believers, that all who look upon this window will see this special light, the glory of our Lord.

This original story about our "Window" and the designers was found recently while going through some archive material.

We thought you would enjoy the background and the meaning behind the symbols.

Book Review

“Mud and the Masterpiece: Seeing Yourself and Others Through the Eyes of Jesus,” by John Burke, instructs us that what we focus on in other people determines the impact we have on those around us.

Burke has interviewed people on the street asking them what one word they would use to describe Christians today. The response of the people interviewed included: judgemental, arrogant, narrow minded, hypocritical and bigoted.

According to Burke if you asked the same question in Jesus’ day, the descriptive words would have been loving, compassionate, wise and merciful.

This book was created from a study of encounters Jesus had with people. Burke says that he looked at the kind words Jesus said to people as well as the harsh words he said to people, and the timing of these words.

The author concludes by saying, “I believe if we are willing, God can restore us into truly life giving people whom others really want to be around, because they see in us what people saw in Jesus.”

Sabbatical by Deena Candler, pastor

West Hills Church generously provides for a Sabbatical for pastors after 7 years of ministry. The purpose of a sabbatical is a time for renewal, refreshment and revitalization as we reflect on our relationship with God and our individual journey with Him. Two months are allotted for sabbatical leave which can be combined with our normal four weeks of vacation.

It has been 8 years since my last sabbatical. That time was incredibly refreshing and renewing. I look forward to that opportunity again as the Session has granted me Sabbatical for June, July, and August of 2017. I will actually be away May 15-31 on a Mission Trip to the Holy Land with the Outreach Foundation. Peggy Shirley, our Elder for Mission, will also be with me on that trip. (There is still room if you wish to join us!)

The most important part of a sabbatical is the time away from the normal responsibilities of ministry to be refreshed and renewed. This sabbatical will allow me to do that in ways that would not have been possible if left to my own resources. With the help of the Session we applied for a grant from the Lilly Endowment Clergy Renewal Program last spring. It was an elaborate process. We heard last fall that I have received the grant. I am so grateful to them.

The theme for my sabbatical is Matthew 11:28-30: “Come to me, all who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn from me; for I am gentle and lowly in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light.” Rest and renewal for me come through spending time in God’s Word, travel, spending time in the beauty of creation, and time with family.

My specific goals are:

1. Renewal of relationship with God to receive from Him, and love Him with all my heart, strength, mind and soul.
2. To experience the fullness of God in His creation.
3. Renewal of relationship with family.
4. To regain healthy rhythms physically and spiritually that might result in ongoing practice of Sabbath rest.

Because of the generous grant from the Lilly Endowment, I will be able to do this through three different activities:

June will be spent at the Tantur Ecumenical Institute in Israel. (I will simply remain in Israel after the Mission Trip.) Tantur is located outside of Jerusalem and within walking distance of Bethlehem. Their one-month program provides opportunities for Christians to live, worship and learn in a community that is ecumenical. A typical day begins with a community meal followed by presentations in the morning and afternoon by the scholars at Tantur on topics such as “Biblical Geography” and “Christians in Palestine.” The community joins together for evening prayer before dinner. Some days are spent on Field Trips to learn in locations such as the Old City of Jerusalem and Galilee. Some afternoons are free for study or prayer. This month long program will provide me the opportunity to deepen my faith as I spend time with other Christians in daily prayer, and learning from the scholars at Tantur. It includes the opportunity for field trips to experience the Bible coming alive by spending time in the land of Christ. It will also lend me the opportunity to spend time with a potential West Hills Mission Partner in Bethlehem.

July - I will focus on renewal with family. I have not lived in the same state as my family since graduating from college. Part of this time will be spent with them in Colorado where all of my extended family live. Part will also be spent with my mother taking a cruise on the Rhine River in Europe. It will give us the opportunity to experience places in the world we have never seen.

August - The final month will be an opportunity for synthesis and transition by spending a month by myself near the beach on Anna Maria Island in Florida. My soul is fed by nature, and God is very present in the nature of His creation there. My intent is for daily exercise, and to settle into a rhythm of devotions, prayer, journaling, reading and rest. This portion of my sabbatical will be more contemplative in nature than the previous two months. My intent is to establish a rhythm that is not just a break from the norm, but that I might continue to practice long after my return by redeveloping healthy habits of Sabbath.

The gift to a congregation from a pastor’s sabbatical is a pastor who returns with renewed energy and vision to serve.

During the time I am away, the Caregiving needs of West Hills will be well taken care of by Pastor Derek Richman, the Caregiving Assistant Betty Manna, our Social Worker Beth Nodes, the Caregiving Elder, Marti Bloes, our Deacons and so many other volunteers in Caregiving Ministry. I am so grateful for them for taking on this added responsibility that will make my sabbatical possible.

Please pray for them—and for me—that I might return renewed and refreshed—and eager to serve you in Christ.
